

Is the China Virus the Mark of the Beast or Not?

By Fred Coulter

April 12, 2021

Concerning the China Virus vaccine: Since it's injected into the arm, that is not the right hand or the forehead so it can't be the Mark of The Beast. Furthermore, those who receive the vaccination do not gain an actual inside purchasing power for buying and selling. Everyone who has not had the vaccine is still buying and selling. However, lest we get complacent the experts in the field are developing invisible tattoo marks and microchips, experimenting with various ways to buy and sell in a cashless society, or credit or debit card transactions. They have not perfected that yet, but that gives us a hint of what may be coming.